AS TO RAILWAY RATES

The recent announcement that Canadian railway companies were considering an increase in their rates because of the prevalent good times and consequent increase of wages to employees, may well cause the people of Canada to seriously consider just where they are at. For years past when we complained of high rates in Canada and discriminating rates against Canada, we were met with the argument that the railways must get traffic; that they must get it at any price in order to keep their wheels rolling. That in fact without the business resulting from the low rates given our competitors we would have to pay still higher rates. The whole trouble, it was explained, was the lack of sufficient Canadian traffic. We were led to believe that with increase of traffic would come decrease of rates. It was well known at the time that the railways were not finding it any too easy to pay their way. There was always held up the possibility of the roads being forced into bankruptcy because of their over-price in giving Canada such magnificent railway facilities.

But to-day every railway system in Canada is congested with Canadian traffic. There is complaint from one end of the Dominion to the other that the railways are not moving the freight offered according to business needs. And the companies say they are not able to move it. Both the great companies have made profits over operating expenses such as they never dreamed of before. The Canadian Pacific is so well satisfied with its ability to carry greater financial burdens out of its earnings that it has secured permission to add twenty millions to its indebtedness. And the Grand Trunk, is so well pleased with the outlook that it contemplated an expenditure of one hundred millions in a new line to the Pacific coast.

Surely, if ever, this is the time when Canada might expect a reduction of railway rates. And this is the time when the companies choose to consider a general increase of rates.

Of what use has been Canada's vast expenditures on these great railway systems? Is the business of the country to be held first on the ground that it is not large enough and next that it is large enough? It is well to note that the proposed increase of rates is not to pay to the United States business, Canada, which contributed a large share of the cost of some of these systems and more than the cost of the other, which has been discriminated against by both in freight rates ever since they were built, is now at this stage of the game to benefit further discrimination against by those creatures of her own creation.

According to every reason that ever was given in the past by Canadian railways or discriminating against Canadian traffic, that discrimination should now cease, instead of being increased. The suggestion is insolent to the last degree. It is only equalled by the demand of the manufacturers for a prohibitive tariff because they are not able to supply the Canadian market with its requirements.

If the railway companies had no more favors to ask of the Canadian people it would be difficult to see how the three and increase could be done. With a few exceptions or unfortunately the railways are never doing anything. And when they want and want but is the time to see that they don't get except on conditions that will protect the interest of the public that feeds and fattens them. The C. P. R. got authorization to increase their indebtedness by twenty millions last year. This does not mean that the shareholders of the company have any personal liability to pay interest on that amount. It means that the interest must be paid out of increase of traffic or increase of rates. It is in fact a mortgage on the patrons of the road, and was secured without practically increasing the control of the road or its rates by the representatives of the people. But the C. P. R. is again applying to parliament for another extension of the Northwest Central charter—the charter which parallels the Saskatchewan river across the Territories, and no doubt will want the usual, if not an unusual bonus. The Grand Trunk has on hand a scheme of magnificent proportions and great merit. It wants great powers and no doubt will be in the field for subsidies in proportion to its enterprise. The Canadian Northern already has a charter across the Territories but the absolutely essential subsidies are still in the air. These three companies are in a position to deal with at the coming session of parliament in such manner as will in some measure protect the public interest as it has never yet been protected. The announcement of a proposed increase of rates is a sufficient warning as to the needs of the case and the requirements of the companies are the opportunity of the country to protect the interests of the general public in the matter of rates. And now-a-days the rate question is the railway question.

The allusion has been to projected railways in the Northwest. And let our friends in Eastern Canada who have the votes should dismiss the subject as a merely Western matter, it is well to show how deep their interest is in low rates between eastern and western Canada. To-day it goes without saying that the development of the commerce and manufactures of the east depends first upon the expansion of the market in the West and second upon their railway access to that market. There is the disadvantage of great distance between the commercial and manufacturing centres of eastern Canada and their natural market on the prairies of the West. If the commerce and manufactures of the States were situated in New England then eastern Canada would be on equal terms, as to distance. But they are not. Chicago and St. Paul are great centres of commerce and manufacturing. Chicago is seven hundred miles nearer Winnipeg than Montreal, and St. Paul is a thousand miles nearer. These cities have the advantage in railway rates both ways over the Canadian centres of manufacturing. As matters stand, they have every advantage over Montreal and Toronto for the trade of the Northwest, except for the tariff. And instead of the eastern merchant and manufacturer getting the full advantage of the tariff as he fondly supposes, if he will look carefully into the matter he will find that the railway rates are so nicely and carefully adjusted that the greater part of the advantage of the tariff goes to the railway and not to him. And if the tariff were twice as high the result would be the same.

It is high time our eastern friends awakened to the facts. And when they vote powers or money to build railways to bring to their cities the trade of the west they should see that those very powers and that actual cash is not used to throw trade into other hands wherever, and so long as, it pays the railway companies to do so. This has been the case in the past. It is for the representatives of the people both east and west to take such measures as shall ensure that it will not be done in the future. We have had the warning and the opportunity is at hand.

B. C. CABINET CHANGES

The British Columbia cabinet has had a shuffling up. Premier Dunsmuir has resigned, and Col. F. G. Prior resigns in his stead. Two new members have been taken in, Dennis Murphy, minister of education, and W. W. B. McInnis, president of the council. The cabinet is now made up as follows:

Col. E. G. Prior, premier.
D. M. Eberts, attorney-general.
J. O. Prentice, finance minister.
W. C. Wells, commissioner of Lands and works.
Dennis Murphy, provincial secretary and minister of education.
W. W. B. McInnis, president of the council.

As far as federal politics is concerned this may be called a coalition government. Possibly it may be the same in provincial politics.

The former premier Dunsmuir was not a party man, and had no interest in politics, as politics. After he became provincial premier he was classed as a liberal.

Col. Prior, the new premier, is a pronounced conservative. He represented Victoria in the federal parliament for several terms as a conservative. He was unseated after the general elections of 1900, and instead of again contesting the seat for the Dominion was elected without opposition to the provincial house and at once was given a cabinet position under the then Premier Dunsmuir. No doubt there was an understanding at the time that he should become premier after Dunsmuir had had the honor of attending the coronation. No doubt there was at the same time some understanding with the federal liberals for Mr. Riley, a liberal, was elected to succeed Col. Prior in the Dominion representation of Victoria city. This was the first occasion on which the city had ever elected a liberal federal representative.

D. M. Eberts, the attorney-general, has been a member of several British Columbia governments, and is a pronounced conservative.

W. C. Wells, the commissioner of lands and works, is a pronounced liberal in federal politics, and was an opponent of Hon. Jas. Martin in provincial politics.

W. W. B. McInnis, president of the council, sat for Nanaimo, B. C., in the federal parliament as a liberal and was a supporter of Hon. Jas. Martin in local politics.

Messrs. Prentice and Murphy are comparatively new men.

Whatever may be the merits or demerits of the new cabinet it is clear that the drawing of strict party lines is not one of its disadvantages.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

Another successful meeting of the Woodmen was held last Tuesday at Hurston's Hall. Verily these are the boys that make things hum! Short but impressive ceremony and the remainder of the evening devoted to social entertainment was the order on this occasion.

Chief among the events was a highly instructive and entertaining discourse held by Sovereign Pratt, illustrative of his recent experiences of Woodmen and Woodcraft in Seattle, State of Washington. He showed us what could be done by a flourishing order, highly organized and composed of men and women who take a real interest in its concerns. In Seattle the membership is well over the 500 mark and on the occasion of Mr. Pratt's first visit the attendance was nearly 800. It is explained that this is quite normal, and proves beyond question that "Woodcraft" must be both beautiful and attractive to be occasionally drawing such numbers. On a note proportionate to this we would like to infuse the same enthusiasm among all our brethren. We look forward to a large increase of our membership in the near future. Every sovereign is happy to furnish particulars to any new applicants, or if desired full information can be obtained from W. R. Kenneth, secretary.

The next meeting of Woodmen will take place at Hurston's Hall, Tuesday, Dec. 9th, at 8 p.m. "Get the logs rolling, boys."

Three thousand American Quakers will settle in the N.W.T. near Yorkton next year. The American Quakers have very little in common with the Russian Quakers or Doukhobors and they are never carried away by extreme religious views.

About fifteen miles of the track at Trench Creek is in a very shabby condition and strict orders have been issued to the train officials to run over it on a very slow schedule. This fact along with the usual wait for connections at Medicine Hat has made our train service more wretched than usual this week.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

A careful survey of the Bulletin's subscription lists reveals the fact that notwithstanding the cash-in-advance principle having been adopted some time ago and due announcement made, there are a number of names on our lists to whom the paper is being sent although the subscription has not been paid in advance. From time to time a friend drops into the office, remarks that his subscription is overdue, and pays up and in advance. But twice every week there are several hundred papers going out to people who may or may not want the paper beyond the date up to which they paid for it and who would seriously object to be disturbed for a subscription which they did not order. With the increase in our subscription list this number of people whose mind on the subject is unknown to the office is increased, and with the increase in the size of our paper the loss on papers supplied and not paid for is also increased. We have striven every point to give our patrons good value for their money. The Bulletin is acknowledged to be second to none in the Territories in anything that goes to make a desirable and valuable newspaper. Our news, our paper, our labor costs us money, and lots of it, we publish the cheapest paper in the Territories as well as one of the best, and we cannot afford to do it for nothing in any case. Many of our friends whose subscriptions are overdue are as certain as sunrise to pay us if we continue to send them the paper. And we fear they will be offended if their names are dropped off the list for the sake of the petty dollar a year subscription. But while we are sure of a few who are really but sure of a great many, and we cannot afford to take the chances of loss on the larger number even for the sake of retaining the good will and patronage of the lesser number.

The address label on each subscriber's paper tells when the subscription expires. This is a reminder every time the paper arrives. So that none of our friends can complain that they have not had due notice of the date upon which their subscription expired. The point of this article is that during the present month we will have to cut all names from our list whose subscriptions are not paid in advance. Kindly look at the address label on your paper and if the date of expiration of your subscription is not correct, let us know at once. If the date is correct and does not state that the subscription is paid in advance do not be surprised or offended if the Bulletin ceases to come to your address. You must surely recognize that we are running on very close margin. So close that it will not stand any chances of loss on papers sent out, nor the heavy book-keeping expenses necessary to keep track of subscribers on any other than the cash-in-advance principle.

PROJECTED RAILWAYS

The Free Press of Nov. 25th publishes a map which conveys better than any amount of letter press the room there is in far western Canada for all the railway enterprises now projected. The Great Northern, the Crow's Nest, the C. P. R. main line, the proposed Canadian Northern through the Jasper pass and the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific through the Pine river pass. Everybody recognizes that there is lots of room between the Great Northern and the Crow's Nest, and at some points the distance is less than 100 miles. The main line of the C. P. R. at Calgary is 100 miles north of the Crow's Nest at MacLeod. Lots of room for two roads there. The projected Canadian Northern at Edmonton is 200 miles away from the C. P. R. main line at Calgary. And the Grand Trunk Pacific which is shown to cross the mountains by the Pine river pass is at that point fully 300 miles distant from the Canadian Northern in the Jasper pass. The distance between the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific is still further increased on their route to their respective main ports of Bute Inlet and Fort Simpson. Those ports are fully 400 miles apart, and there is nothing projected between. Whatever weak points there may be in the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific schemes their being too close together in the last 700 miles of their course is not one of them. Especially when it is remembered that it is generally conceded that the most northerly line will pass through the most productive country. While both of the northern routes are through territory that will be a better producer of traffic than that on the already existing southern routes.

The fact that the map shows both lines starting westerly from Edmonton does not detract from the prospective importance of this place, nor from the advantages of the several schemes. There is plenty of room both east and west of Edmonton, and as the Spokane valley is the main objective of both it is not unreasonable that there should be a point common to both somewhere in that valley—nor that that common point should be Edmonton.

PROF. BAIRD'S VISIT.

Rev. Prof. Baird, of Manitoba College, arrived on Saturday's train on a mission in connection with the King memorial fund of that college. Prof. Baird was the founder of the Presbyterian congregation at Edmonton, having travelled alone overland in the fall of 1882, for that purpose. How successful he was in the present standing of that congregation proves. After ministering to the congregation here for some seven years, until it had become firmly established he was called to Winnipeg and given a professorship in the college, a position, in which his deep learning and unbounded energy has found the fullest scope. Mr. Baird preached in the Strathcona Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. There was a large congregation to welcome him in the Presbyterian church in Edmonton on Sunday evening, amongst them some of those who were members of his first congregation here twenty years ago. He spoke most feelingly of his connection with the church here, and of his residence in Edmonton. Speaking of the mission on which he now was he said that it was desired to develop the theological course of the college. For this purpose and in memory of the late principal King it was proposed to provide a memorial fund with which to endow a chair of theology in the college. The amount was placed at $50,000. There were good hopes of raising that amount as the various towns in Manitoba were making a most generous response to the call. While recognizing the great distance of Edmonton and the heavy local obligations resting on the congregation the improvement of the efficiency of the college was a matter of interest to every member of the denomination in the West. He hoped that interest would be fittingly recognized in proportion to the blessing of prosperity which had come upon Edmonton in common with the rest of the country. Prof. Baird remains at Edmonton until Saturday morning, the guest of the pastor, his successor, Rev. D. G. McQueen.

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN.

D. D. Mann, of Mackenzie, & Mann, and D. R. Hanna, third vice-president of the Canadian Northern, arrived on Saturday evening in Mr. Mann's private car, attached to the Saturday express. Manager Pace met the C. N. R. train at the junction with the C. N. R. engine and coach. Mr. Mann's private car was detached and was brought to Edmonton station over the spur. Mayor Short and members of the town council, K. W. MacKenzie, president of the board of trade, and many members of the board and leading citizens, went over to the junction by invitation of Mr. Pace in the C. N. R. coach to meet Messrs. Mann and Hanna. Mr. Hanna came direct from Winnipeg. Mr. Mann is returning from the coast. Mr. Mann is accompanied by his sister-in-law, Miss Williams, and by Miss Strong, of Winnipeg.

By arrangement Messrs. Mann and Hanna met a large and representative gathering of citizens in the council chamber at eight o'clock for the purpose of discussing matters of mutual interest. Mayor Short presided, after a brief introduction he called upon.

Mr. Hanna, who said that he would be prepared to take up the question of the operation of the spur with the business men on Monday. He was satisfied that the country needed another railway system, but Mr. Mann would speak regarding the general scheme.

Mayor Short asked Mr. Mann especially regarding construction east and west from Edmonton during the season of 1903.

Mr. Mann said that he was sorry the spur into Edmonton was not already in operation. But it was no fault of his company that it was not. He was confident that the agreement would be signed and the road in operation this week. The Canadian Northern company was now in possession of full information regarding the route from Fort Arthur to Edmonton. The surveys had been completed and they had secured a maximum gradient of a half per cent that is 2 feet to the mile going east and a maximum of one per cent or 52 feet to the mile coming west.

This was the easiest grade on the continent and would enable this road with its low bonded indebtedness to haul grain more cheaply than any other road in Western Canada. Regarding a line to the coast they hoped to complete that within the next five years. They were not so sure of the date of completion of that part as of the line to Edmonton. It would be much more expensive to build. But it would be built. There was room not only for two transcontinental lines but for many branch lines centering here. Edmonton would be the largest city in Canada west of Winnipeg. The extent, fertility and resources of the country justified that opinion. It had been said at one time that the C. N. R. were the agents of the C. P. R. and would finally sell out to them. That had not happened yet. It was now said that they would sell out to the Grand Trunk. That would not happen either. There was room for both. This was a wheat producing country, and being so near the coast there was opportunity for a large trade with the Orient. When China was opened up with railways as large a trade would be done between the Pacific coast and the Orient as between the Atlantic coast and Europe. He had studied the question when in China some years ago and had reached that conclusion. On course the trade would be shared by the United States as well as Canada, but we would have our share. Regarding the line from the coast he expected that the Canadian Northern would reach Edmonton over its own rails in a year and a half, if they would not be in a position to handle next year's crop they certainly would be in time for the crop of 1904. And they would try to have a share of the crop of 1903.

Mr. Hanna discussing the operation of the spur said that they had been trying to do things with the spur for a long time. It had given them more worry than the whole 1500 miles of their system. He hoped that within 48 hours they would begin to operate it. They were not desiring to make money out of it and he was having a tariff prepared that he would know the business men on Monday. The company would meet the people fairly, MacKenzie & Mann were not takers, but builders. In 1896 they were only a name. Now they have 1500 miles of road and hope to be at Edmonton in time for next year's crop. He had been much impressed by the country north of Olds. He wished Edmonton all success and hoped that the C. N. R. would share in that success.

Mayor Short asked as to building east and west next summer.

Mr. Mann replied that the company would certainly build their road bed for 100 miles or more to meet the construction from the east. They would also do such of the bridging as timber could be procured for. As to track-laying the freight rate on rails and other material over the C. P. R. were excessive and his company could not stand it. But if they could get suitable rates on material they would lay track as well as build the road bed. At any rate the building of the road bed was the part of railroading that gave general employment and distributed money locally.

Mayor Short said that he hoped by actual construction to keep the flow of settlement directed into this district.

Mr. Hanna said that the freight on rails and fastenings would add about $2,000 per mile to the cost of the road. This was prohibitive.

Mr. Oliver was called upon by the chairman and spoke at some length on the resources of the country, its settlement, and the relations between the Canadian Northern and the town.

In the course of an informal talk Mr. Mann mentioned that the C. N. R. line as surveyed placed Edmonton some 40 miles nearer Winnipeg than Calgary is now by the main line of the C. P. R. The distance from Winnipeg to Edmonton by the Canadian Northern will be a little over 800 miles. The C. N. R. have a two and a half million bushel elevator under construction at Port Arthur composed of fire clay and steel. Four years ago Port Arthur, the lake terminus of the C. N. R. was the deadest town in Canada. Grass was growing through the sidewalks and half the buildings were empty. To-day every house is occupied and hundreds more have been erected, the sidewalks are granolithic, and the town is one of the most bustling and active in Canada. The company has been active in extending their branches in the province of Manitoba entering into competition with the C. P. R. at many points. They have been more successful in coping with the grain blockade than their rivals and it is their policy to give cars to farmers for direct loading whenever they can. They have engaged the Grosvenor car works at Cobourg, Ont., to supply them exclusively for a year and have made a similar arrangement with the Kingston locomotive works. They have been delayed seriously by the non-delivery of rails by Clergue of the Soo, and have had to order rails from Germany. But say they are bound to keep up with the procession at all costs.

Mr. Mann had intended leaving this morning but he decided to remain over to-day for the purpose of discussing the question of divisional facilities with the town authorities. Mr. Hanna will remain several days in order to close up the question of the operation of the spur satisfactorily all around.

G. T. R. OFFICIALS IN CALGARY.

Herald, Frank W. Morse, third vice-president, and W. Wainwright, controller of the Grand Trunk railway, arrived on No. 1 this morning in their private car, which was immediately hooked on to the train for Edmonton.

Our representative had but a few minutes conversation with these gentlemen but learned that their visit was one strictly on business.

Mr. Wainwright said the Grand Trunk were going across the continent and they would begin the moment legislation was obtained, and the road built without delay.

The route will be north of the C. P. R. and much in the direction of the C. N. R. It will run into the city of Calgary some way, probably with a branch line, continued Mr. Wainwright, and now we are off to Edmonton, returning Friday night, spending a portion of Saturday in Calgary, proceeding to Banff later in the day.

John Niblock accompanied the gentlemen north.

Senator Loughheed and several other gentlemen were on the platform to greet these gentlemen.

The sight of a Grand Trunk car and the presence of important officials of the company in Calgary on actual railway business caused quite a lot of comment. It seemed an epoch in the annals of Calgary.

To Attack Venezuela.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—Germany and Great Britain have determined to take joint action to collect their claims against Venezuela. The two powers are in correspondence over the form of this action. No time can be named when they will act because the respective foreign offices have not yet agreed on the details. It is understood that only slight differences exist regarding the course to be followed. It is confirmed here that the United States is fully instructed on the subject of the negotiations and knows what is indicated will not infringe on the Monroe doctrine.

London, Nov. 27.—Diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Venezuela have not been severed up to the present but the foreign office here would not be surprised if it was compelled to take a decisive step at any moment. Thus far Venezuela shows no sign of granting the reparations demanded and the question of the seizure of the Venezuelan customs has been discussed between Berlin and London as one of the various possible methods of obtaining satisfaction. No decision, however, has yet been reached regarding the course which shall be finally adopted.

Fred Eaton, a 15-year-old boy, was arraigned before Magistrate Tipton yesterday afternoon charged with larceeny. There were nine counts against him to several of which he pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to thirty days at Fort Saskatchewan and was banded over to the N. W. M. P. His experience will afford a wholesome example for other boys in town who have similar propensities.

J. W. Neilson, of St. John, N. B.,
who was chief engineer of the C. & E.
railway at the time of construction, arrived at Strathcona on Monday night and has spent the week about the district. Last night Surveyor Turner Bowen, of Calgary, came in and the supposition is that the C. & E. Co.
propose to make preliminary surveys and renew their applications for charter rights to build east and west from Strathcona.

A. W. Jones, C. P. R. engineer, and a survey party of sixteen men arrived at Strathcona on Monday and have begun survey work east and northeast from this town. They are very much and one can tell only by their movements what they propose doing. They made a preliminary survey this week in a southerly direction from Strathcona across Jas. Farmer's and
A. J. Tuttle's farms. This morning the whole party with their full camping outfit left the trial in the direction of Clover Bar.

On Saturday afternoon there was some excitement in town over the burning of a load of hay on the street between the Corner Store and the C.
& E. station. A German settler from the reserve had just arrived in town with a load of hay and drove on to the scales at Smith's when he discovered flames rising from the back of the load. He quickly damped it with pails the rack and load were dumped into the wagon. The farmer blames boys for being hanging on to his wagon who were having a little fire on the load as he was not nor had not been smoking.
